IRISH EMIGRANT SOCIETY.

Office, No. 1 Reade Street, New York.

Office, No. 1 Reads Street, New 107K.

In consequence of the great number of complaints which have for a long time been made by Emigrants, of frauds committed upon them in the sending of money to their friends in Ireland, and to aid and protect the Emigrant the Irish Emigrant Society established a fund, deposited in the Bank of Ireland, upon which they draw drafts, payable at sight, at any of the branches of the Bank.

Persons residing out of the city, by enclosing in a letter the sum they wish forwarded, with the plainly written direction to whom and where it is to be paid, will have the same remitted.

There is a great advantage in purchasing the Society's trafts—that the Bank has a branch in each of the principal towns in Ireland, and thus the losses by discount, and therwise, are avoided.

The Society keeps an office at No. 22 Spruce street, to thich Emigrants can apply to obtain situations for which hey are fitted.

gan square, Philadelphia. General Description of the Parkeville Hydropathic Institute. The min building is three stories high, standing back from the street about one hundred feet, with a semicircular grass plot in front, and contains thirty to forty rooms. The grounds around the house are tastefully laid out with walks and planted with trees, shrubs, &c. On the left of the entrance to these grounds is a cottage containing four rooms, used by male patients as a bathing house, with every convenience for "packing," bathing, &c.; on the right of the entrance, about two hundred feet distant, stands a similar cottage, used by the ladies for similar purposes.

Durposes.

In the rear of the Institute, at the distance of one hundred feet, are three other cottages, some eighty feet apart. One of these is the laundry, with a hydraul at the door; the other two are occupied by the servants.

The hydraul water is introduced into these cottages as well as into the main building, and all the waste water carried of by drains under ground.

THE WATER WORKS

Consist of a circular stone building, standing on the brow of a hill, surmounted by a large cedar reservoir containing five hun fred barrels, brought from a never-failing spring of pure cold water in the side of the hill, by "a hydraulic ram," a selfacting machine of east iron, that is kept constantly coint, night and day, by the descent of the water from the spring. The surplus water is carried from the reservoir to a fountain in the water-works yard, surrounded by weeping willows. In the first story of the water-works is a circular room, containing the douche bath, which is a stream falling from a height of about thirty feet, and can be varied in size from half an inch to an inch and a half in diameter. Adjoining the douche room is a dreeding room, with marble tables, &c.; the rising dracke (for the cure of piles, &c.) is one of the most complete contrivances of the kind, being entirely under the control of the patient using the same.

There are many other appliances, which can be better understood by a personal examination.

price, $2 50 per volume. Orders respectfully solicited.

SEARS' PICTORIAL FAMILY PUBLICATIONS are decidedly the best books that agents can possibly employ their time in supplying to the people of the United States. They are valuable for reference, and should be possessed by every family in this great republic. There is not a city or town in these United States, not even those of small importance, but contains many citizens to whom these works are indispensable. They are adapted to the literary wants of the Christian, the patriot, the statesman, and the domestic circle, got up in a superior style of art and workmanship; and are not only such books as will sell, but are such as an agent of good principle will feel free to recommend, and willing to see the purchaser again after they have been bought.

Ous Plan.—The plan the publisher has so successfully carried out for several years, is the obtaining responsible men as agents, who are well known in their own counties, towns, and villages, and have time and disposition to circulate good and instructive books among their neighbors and friends. Any person wishing to embark in the enterprise will risk little in sending $25 or $50, for which he will receive an assortment as he may direct, at the wholesale cash prices.

Enterprising and active men of respectability and good address, would do well to engage in the sale of the above volumes; and all postmasters, clergymen, book pediars, and newspaper agents, are respectfully requested to act as our agents. thers calm simplicity of manner. She quietly took off her gloves and bonnet, and placed her parasol against a column, shook back her magnifi-cent blonde curls, which hung around her face, and began her speech. Without the slightest embarrassment or appearance of weariness, she spoke (by the watch) for three hours.

It was a case of an appeal from judgment, and defended by Delangle. The frequenters of the Palais were amazed, and sorely chagrined to hear a woman plead a cause so ably, with such facility, such knowledge of the technicalities of the law-and, above all, with such convincing eloquence.

At the end of three hours, Madame Grange said she would sum up the whole. The con-noisseurs now exclaimed: "She will recommence her pleading." They were widely mis-taken. Although they said the resume was ra-ther discursive, it was lucid and admirable. At its termination, Madame Grange said, with delicate good taste and simplicity, "Gentlemen, I think I have said all that is necessary to enlighten you upon my right. Pardon me, if I have wearied you. As a daughter, I feel myself impelled to defend the rights of an aged mother; as a mother, I am compelled to defend the rights of my children."

Monsieur Delangle replied to Madame Grange, whom he could not avoid addressing occasionally, as "the honorable gentleman." He would passed away with good humor. There can be no doubt but that women would be great law-

The New Orleans Delta alludes to a case remarkably similar, in many respects:

"We never saw but one lady arguing a case in our courts. It was Mrs. Gaines, who, in 1842, appeared in the First District Court, (Judge Buchanan,) accompanied by her gallant husband, in undress uniform, with sword buckled to his side. It happened that Mrs. G.'s lawyers, becoming dissatisfied with some decision of the court, retired from the case, whereupon the dignified veteran advanced towards the lawyers' table, leading his lady by the hand, and begged that the court would allow the lady to plead her own cause. The scene was quite an interesting one. There stood on one side an array of our oldest and most learned counsellors, who were resisting the lady's pretensions with all their skill and ability, with a large battery law-books lying before them. On the other side stood the bright eyed, handsome little lady, and the war-worn veteran, her gallant husband. The claim of the lady to be heard in her own case could not be denied. She proceeded in her remarks, but soon became so piquant and personal that the Judge interfered and begged her to confine herself to the argument. Thereupon the gallant General arose, and, in a slow and measured style, stated that for every thing that the lady should say he held himself personally responsible, in every manner and form, in court and out of court. This allusion pretty soon and out of court. This allusion pretty soon quieted the sniggling of some young attorneys who were present, and who appeared mightily tickled with the scene. Mrs. Gaines was permitted to go on and argue her case to a conclu-house, and ship painting, will be seen in its rapid sale. It is not over four months since this paint has been introduced into market, and our agent has been able to order one hundred tons. The paint is ground in oil, and put up ready for use, from the finest black down to any shade to suit the fancy.

Also, inventors and manufacturers of Tanners' Blacking. This article is so universally approbated by all who have used it, that it scarcely needs commendation. But to give confidence to those who may not have tried it, we would say that Z. C. Ryon, foreman to A. M. Taylor & Co., Columbia street, Cincinnati, has authorized us to use his name as a recommendation to tanners in general. To all who know Mr. Z. C. Ryon this would be sufficient; but all tanners in the city and country, who have used it, have granted us this privilege. If it were necessary we could fill a newspaper with testimonials; but where all who use are pleased we deem it nucalled for.

The Tanners' Blacking is put up in kegs containing six gallons, ready for use, and will be sent to any point on the canal, railroad, or river, at fifty cents per gallon.

Ask a Hindoo to partake of your meat, and he would spit in your face; neglect to ask an Englishman to do so, and he would probably request the favor of meeting you in the park. To offer wine to a Turk, would be to make an enemy of "enlarged breeches" forever. The same act to a Frenchman would probably secure you an unerring friendship. Among our oriental friends, for a man to introduce him into the presence of a married woman, would be to the husband an unpardonable injury; a bare request to see her an affront. The person who should call on an American, however, without inquiring for the partner of his bosom, would be considered as having lost his title to a gentieman. On the coast of Malabar, if a Hellachore chance to touch a man of a superior tribe, the outrage is so great that the laws allow the injured party to punish the insult with death in almost any other country it would be treated as an act too frivolous to notice. In France duelling is looked upon as an accomplishment; in Japan it is murder. Suicide on the contrary is thought by the Frenchman an act of baseness, while the Japanese people esteem it the most satisfactory proof of your possessing bravery. To wipe out disgrace the Frenchman shoots you; the Japanese on the contrary shoots himself, while your refusal to follow his example would be considered such an act of polroonery, that your family would consider themselves disgraced to all eternity. From this the reader will see that a large portion of our injuries, like the greater number of our troubles are rather imaginary than otherwise; and that while the latter very often take their rise from ill-digestion, or an overloaded stomach, the former owe their existence to a difference in latitude, and the notions that we derive not from a manly heart, but the senseless prejudices which surround us .- Albany Dutchman.

S. Circuit Court, one of the defendants' coaches.

Morals of Monarchies.—The London Quar-terly Rèview induiges in a strain of moral moaning and lachrymose indignation, worthy of the champion of kings, over the revelations of the profligacy of the royal characters of France, Prussia and England, made by the late Lord Holland, in his "Foreign Reminiscences," which go to prove that "Marie Antoinette was guilty of more than one adulterous intrigue,' and something even more "infamous," and that "the Princess Frederica of Prussia was the child of a mean adultery;" besides, that the Duchess of York, aunt to the present Queen of England, was no better than "she should be." Now, it is all very well in the Quarterly to scold at the "revelations" of the vices of courts; but it would have been in better taste to have railed at these vices themselves, than merely condemn their disclosure with so much bitter-ness and acerbity. Depend on it that the peo-ple will find out what monarchy is, in spite of all your caution to cover it up, by the sophis-try of reviewers, and the scolding of old women to tell-tale lords, who have gone to their graves with "clean breasts." But think of the scanwith "clean breasts." But think of the scan-dal—to impeach by innuendo the "aunt of the Queen of England"—that touches royalty a lit-tle too roughly; and hence the roses strewed in the passages of the court by the sensitive and moral Quarterly. "Some civet, good Apothe-cary," and sprinkle "chloride of lime" on the Quarterly .- Phila, Ledger.

TIME AND SPACE.—The telegraph has annihilated space, and steam is fast bringing the dwellers of the ends of the earth together. Paris and London are now not a half a day apart. You can leave London at half-past ten in the morning by railroad from the station at London bridge, reach Folkstone in about two hours, 83 miles, take the steamer at that place at half-past one, and make the run to Boulogne, quickly apologize, and the whole scene can be the latter city, 170 miles, at half-past nine o'clock-eleven hours in all-so that you are enabled to take your breakfast in London at a very reasonable hour, and sup in Paris.

In a short time, when our railroad is made to Cincinnati and St. Louis, we shall be able to breakfast in Boston, dine in New York, sup in Baltimore, breakfast in Cumberland, dine at Parkersburg, sup in Cincinnati, and the next day sup in St. Louis—thus going in less than three days from Boston to St. Louis! In a short time thereafter, we may expect to make the run to the Pacific ocean in about a week. By the way, we see that the citizens of St. Louis have entered with earnestness upon the work of making the railroad from that city to the Pacific. The subscriptions have been liberal, and proposals are issued for making forty-five miles of it. Such a spirit of enterprise can never fail.

METHODIST AFFAIRS .- The New York East conference of the Methodist Episcopal church nas elected the following ministers as delegates to the general conference to be held at Boston in 1852: Rev. Messrs. Stephen Olin, Nathan Bangs, Herman Bangs, Bartholomew Creagh, James H. Perry, Seymour Landon, and Edwin E. Griswold. Those who are familiar with the subject will see that the New York East conference has, like the New York conference held recently, proved its conservative character in its selection of delegates. The three gentlemen standing highest on the list were known to be strongly opposed to the famed resolutions of the "preachers' meeting" in New York city, ence, not because they were parties to the resother an act becomes an insult, depends almost lutions, but because of their known moderation | Fairfield county were so damaged that the farmat the meeting, and their high personal worth.

PROGRESS .- The progress of the Mormons is like the gathering snowball. Mr. lowing prediction, based upon the fashions of Taylor, one of the Mormon missionaries sent that period. He saw it literally fulfilled, at a out from the Salt Lake Valley, writes from Europe that two large establishments are fitting out in London for the city of Salt Lake. One comes out for the purpose of manufacturing broad and other cloths, vestings, merinoes, alpacas, and other fabrics of that description, together with shawls, blankets flannels &c The other establishment spoken of comes out for the purpose of manufacturing sugar from the beet root, on the same principle as in France. These will require a great deal of machinery, which it is contemplated to bring out, together with men to work it, the object being to manufacture everything to be required purchase it elsewhere .- Cleveland Herald.

It is generally known that Mr. Warden Cresson, of Philadelphia, while in Jerusalem, em-braced the Jewish religion. On his return he was, at the instigation of his family, indicted before a jury of six persons, who returned a verdiet that the said W. Cresson was insane, day, in the superior court at New York, the ordering his property to be placed in the hands jury finding a verdict of $2,500, in a case in of commissioners appointed for that purpose. Mr. Cresson, justly aggrieved at this decision, carried his case before the Court of Common Pleas. In this Court the case was pending before Judge King for five days-numerous depositions having been taken on both sides. After the charge of the Judge, the jury, in an hour, returned a verdict, "That the said Warden Cresson was perfectly sane and fully capable of managing his own affairs.' THE CAT TRADE IN CALIFORNIA .- The San Francisco correspondent of the Journal of Commerce, under date of April 1st, says: "The steamer Ohio, on her last trip from San Diego, brought into port an importation of cats, in number. They cost at the place of embarca-tion about 40 cents a head, and sell here from ten to twenty dollars each, according to size. sex, and general condition. A few passengers on board the steamer told me that they had a very musical time of it. MURDER IN LEXINGTON, KY .- Last week a man named Castle walked up to a man named ered, 172 deg. 56 min. west of the meridian of Carpenter, in Lexington, Ky., and extracted a pin from the lapel of his coat without asking for it. Carpenter took it as an insult-harsh words an engineer of the hydrographical bureau of the ensued, whereupon Carpenter drew a pistol, placed it to the temple of Castle and fired, killing him instantly. They were both mechanics. Castle left a family. Carpenter was arrested, and was to have a hearing the day our inform-

GRATIFYING CHANGE.—The steamers of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, which heretofore have been obliged by the post office arrangements to sail on the Sabbath when their regular day of sailing occurred on that day, have gained permission, through the efforts of the managers, to delay their steamers until Monday, whenever the 1st or 15th comes on a Sunday. "Them that honor me," Lord of the Sabbath, "I will honor." "Them that honor me," says the

It has been calculated that it would occupy one man eight hundred years, reading fourteen hours each day, to read the merely historical works in the Bibliotheque Royale, Paris. Among these are more than twenty thousand—for the most part in several volumes-relative to the history of France alone, from the complete and elaborate histories of MM. Royou, Fautin, Desodards, and Anquell, to the quaint old chronicles of Froissard, Comines, and Jean de Troyes; from which we learn that on such a day the King was sick; and that, on such other day, a man drowned himself in the Seine.

The Sunbury American thinks that, as certainly as the waters of the Susquehanna flow into the Chesapeake, the Susquehanna and Sun-bury and Eric Railroad will be made. The people in the valley of the Susquehanna are moving in the matter. On Tuesday last, a convention was held at New Berlin, Union county, in reference to the completion of this road.

RADISHES A POLITICAL EMBLEM.—The tricolor, which is the republican emblem of Italian independence, is the object of special jealousy n Tuscany. The vigilance of the police at Florence permits no attempt to exhibit it, even in private. An old market woman was recently arrested for having a basket of white and red radishes, which with the green tops made the hated talisman.

THE PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CONVENTION for the diocese of Virginia closed its session at Staunton on the 23d ultimo. The Right Rev. Bishop Meade presided. During the session the Female Institute, at Staunton, was purchased by the convention, and it will hereafter be under the entire control of the diocese.

SHOCKING!—A little school girl in McDo-nough county, Ill., near the village of Macomb, was accused by her mistress with stealing a piece of money, who threatened to hang her if she didn't confess. She protested innocence, when the mistress proceeded to put a handker-chief around her neck, with which she lifted the child from the floor, dislocating her neck! RICHARD III .- A writer in the Notes and Queries says that Dr. Wallis, of Oxford, who published a grammatical work in the year 1653, in treating of the words crook, crouch, cross, &c., remarks that Richard III. was called crouchbacked, not because he was deformed, but be-cause he wore on his back the form of a cross.
